Summer's lovely white rose,
Are sweeter far than highland honey,
That's what everyone knows!"
"Look here, you bold, conceited rascal,
The loudest boaster ever I knew,
I'd rather drink camomile any minute
Than be kissed by you!"

3. "Now if you're jilting me, my beauty,
Summer's lovely white rose,
Well, just one kiss before it's over,
If that's the way it goes!"
"Ah, now at last I'd best be truthful,
I don't really mind if everyone knows:
You've had two kisses, take two dozen
For that's the way it goes!"
